

Ottawa, Week by Week

[By DEAN WILSON]

Unusual Interest In Meeting

In view of Canada's attitude that smaller nations should have more authority in the proposed set-up of an United Nations security organization in the world as hinted in the reaction to the disclosures at the historic "Dumbarton Oaks Conference," there is a most unusual interest back stage in Ottawa in the proposed meeting shortly to be held in Mexico City of the foreign ministers of the nations of the Western Hemisphere, especially since Canada's future role in the Pan-American Union is a lively topic of discussion in that one capital at this moment. Then again, the increased activities of the Government in Ottawa in the political as well as economic spheres of this Western Hemisphere throughout this war, and the favourable tendency of Latin American countries to espouse its reciprocal policies in the capital here, have raised the importance of this meeting of foreign ministers of the Western Hemisphere. It is known that the Canadian Government has been since her stake may be heavy in the relations with her neighbours in the Western Hemisphere during the post-war period, when this nation must open new markets for her vital export trade which is closely tied to the economic life of the continent. The man-in-the-street across Canada may realize the point that it is emphasized that this has been estimated that this country has built up an industrial economy during this war that may provide in time exports to be sent in to the United States of over four billion dollars worth a year.

Strong Undercurrent

There is a peculiar story heard now along Parliament Hill, and it seems to indicate that the grates on the war fronts may cause an occurrence once again of the intense agitation for more and more effort in the war. The King Government, in regard to manpower policies, while nothing official or open, has been back up this story, yet this inference has been drawn by some observers from the visit abroad by top men of the "Creative Conservative" party, as well as the statements by Defence Minister McNaughton in his latest press conference, and subject with the Minister stressing at one time that the "reinforcements are coming forth" and promised and demanded that the "volunteers are coming forth" in far larger numbers than last year at this time. However, a calm reminder must be given now that, though it is true that changing conditions may bring forth changes in policies in war, yet the Government in Ottawa has the power at the present time to send more than the 16,000 draftees overseas under the War Relocation Act. Parliament, if such a need or decision should be made by the Government. The Government does need the sanction of Parliament for such a move in the future, if this should be necessary in any emergency. Nevertheless, such plans and policies are tied up with stories which speculate on what may happen along Parliament Hill when the coming meeting of the House of Commons responds amidst the evident flurry of intense action on the war fronts, including the possibility of a longer and more imagined by many observers when Parliament met in special session recently.

Farewell Party

[By DEAN WILSON]

On Saturday, the 6th inst., a group of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Bob" Morrison, which was well attended by the ladies, after which gifts were presented to the guests of honour by Miss C. Smith.

The evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all, with rummy, bridge, and other games. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies, after which gifts were presented to the guests of honour by Miss C. Smith.

Mr. John Sinclair, in a few well chosen words, expressed the sentiments of all those present. He thanked the girls for the active part they had taken in the war, and wished them every success in their new location. Delia's popular twins made glowing replies, thanking their friends for the party and the gifts, and the happy evening's end.

Delia's loss is Strathmore's gain, and every good wish goes with the Ponger family in anything they may undertake.

Hint of Co-operation

There is a report in Ottawa that consideration was being given to a proposal to send certain workers of an airplane plant to the United States, another similar plant in the United States, it aroused much curiosity across this country, as it seemed to indicate that the Government was in this close co-operation between Canada and the United States on manpower problems from time to time, as the Government has been in Ottawa allowed persons to go across the International border to work in the United States in the war when harvest requirements demanded such manpower there, or Washington allowed Americans there to do similar service in Canadian harvest seasons. Then again, the same reciprocal attitude was taken in both capitals when men from New Brunswick and Quebec engaged in lumber work in the section of Maine areas where such needs developed. In other words, whenever extra help was needed by one or the other country, and such aid could be given without doing harm there, exchange of manpower was effected with as little red tape as possible, this being the background of the latest consideration given to send certain workers of an airplane plant in the United States from a similar factory in Canada; though a story in Ottawa has indicated that a longer and more imagined by many observers when Parliament met in special session recently.

Victory Loan Meeting

The local Victory Loan organization held a meeting in the Town Hall on Friday night, 6th inst., which was well attended by its members.

The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mr. Wm. Gibson, who read a statement of the position of the salemen's commissions earned in the Sixth Victory Loan campaign, which disclosed that the sale of the commissions amounting to $301.40 had been donated to the Red Cross, and the balance used to send a parcel to each of 82 men from the Delia district now serving overseas.

The names of those to whom parcels had been sent were read, and also the names of those who had acknowledged receipt of the parcels. Some of the letters were read, but time did not permit of all of them.

The results of the Seventh Victory Loan campaign were reviewed, and after some suggestions and discussion it was agreed that the commissions earned by the salemen in the Seventh Victory Loan be placed in a fund for the purpose of sending parcels to men and women of the Delia community now serving overseas, and also to pay expenses of those returning to Delia from overseas service.

A committee was organized, to be known as the Delia Overseas Service Men's Welfare Committee. The members of the committee were: Messrs. W. B. Dunlop and Kenneth Harvie.

An interesting part of the meeting took place when it was reported that the school was now free of debt, and with fitting ceremony the mortgage was burned by Mr. Dunlop, who gave a resume of the building of the school, and the assistance given by the late Norman Burke, John McKee, and other others.

The Delia public school is a credit to the town and district, of which the taxpayers would be proud to have successful pupils, who are now holding responsible positions in life, have received their education in Delia. Mr. H. H. Bess is the present principal. The other teachers are—Mr. E. Dyer, Mrs. W. D. Fitzsimmons, and Mrs. K. Kempf.

Hard work doesn't kill people. Hard conflict does.

After the meeting adjourned, a delicious lunch was served in the dining-room of the Queen's Hotel. The fair which the organization wish to express their appreciation to the hotel management and staff.

SEEDTIME HARVEST

It looks as though the wheat varieties now recommended in the Prairie Provinces have pretty well stood up to a very interesting comparison between a previous harvest.

Warble Fly Control

Considerable progress was made in the elimination of warble flies during 1944, and further progress during 1945 is anticipated.

Waste Paper

Paper Salvage Is Needed Now More Than Ever

"Now more than ever before, the importance of waste paper to the work it can do at the little front, makes it necessary to keep a large supply of it going. Life with the mills. This was a statement of an official of the National Salvage Division in Ottawa who spoke recently.

"Paper is your ally or enemy. Throw into the garbage can, leave it in some other way destroyed, is of no value to Canada's armed forces," he said. "Paper turned in during low salvage drives, however, can play a big part in the packaging of official supplies."

"Every scrap of paper that is not gummed or waxed, dirty or wet, is waste. Newspapers, letters, paper board, cereal boxes, posters, tickets, envelopes, in short every bit of paper, including unseasonably in homes, offices and other buildings is needed."

"Many people ask why the paper has to be tied in bundles," said the official. "The answer is simple. It's easier to handle. Speed in wartime is the essential factor, and the sooner the waste paper can be taken to the mills, the sooner it can be made into cartons and other battle necessities."

Prevent Floods

Proposals Are Being Studied For Post-War Work

The prairie farm rehabilitation department announced that proposals to prevent spring flooding in Brandon, Portage, and Prairie and Winnipeg areas of Manitoba along the Assiniboine river now are being studied for practicality.

The proposed work would include construction of two reservoirs in Brandon at Assiniboine and LaSalle and Lomond lake, providing a capacity of 2,722,500 gallons of water.

Larger reservoirs would have to be built northwest of Brandon at St. Lawrence and near Redfield, Saskatchewan, to provide a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons.

Ten-Agers Have Own Club

Tomato is another Canadian city which has added a "Ten-Agers" club to its list of amusement places. The first opened some weeks ago in Winnipeg, Man. Now a group of "Ten-Agers" are making merry on the opening night at Jones Kitchen hall where the club is located. Hop notes are provided by the club's own six-man band. Here George Malcolm, chairman, greets the girls with his eye.

Protective Foods

Right Foods Are Important For The Older Groups

In the conversation people were considered old when they reached the forty to fifty age group. Now, it is admitted that they are getting older during these years and the "prime of life" can be extended still further if attention is paid to the changing food needs.

As the years pass and physical activities become less strenuous, the need for energy foods such as fats, proteins, bread and cereals becomes gradually less, but the need for protective food remains as great. Those in the post-war world, milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables.

Milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables are necessary for general good health and to regulate the functions of the body. For instance, as one becomes older, digestive juices are apt to occur more frequently and may be caused by neglecting to eat the right foods as well as by eating the wrong ones. Certain B-vitamins aid digestion and appetite. Some sources of vitamin are milk, eggs, liver, milk, eggs and green vegetables.

One of the commonest injuries suffered by older people is fractured bones. The ease with which they are broken is due to the loss of calcium in the bones. An inadequate amount of milk over a long period of time may possibly be a contributing factor to this condition.

The Nutrition Division, Ottawa, stresses the importance of protective foods at all times and particularly during the festive and holiday season. It also stresses the importance of planning meals as good insurance for the festive and holiday season and in the month of June.

Astonishing Record

Movement Of Millions Of British Troops By Sea, South Sea

Low Of Life

One of the most astonishing records in the war is found in the revelation that in the movement of 10,000,000 British Army personnel by sea up to the end of the war, 10,000,000 were sent by ship by enemy action, number which makes up only 0.028 per cent.

Considering the elaborate preparations the enemy had made and the fact that the British had the advantage of the sea, it is an astonishing achievement and it was due not only to the vigilance maintained by the Royal Navy and the R.A.F. but to good planning at the War Office.

It is a record that is a testament to the skill and courage of the British forces.

EDUCATION PLANNED FOR CANADIAN SAILORS OVERSEAS SHOWN TO BE WIDE IN SCOPE

OTTAWA—Chances are, the first who left home as a bewildered sailor, who came back with new polish, education and knowledge of current world events, than he might have derived from a normal education.

It's all up to the sailor himself. And thanks to the co-operation of Canada's leading educational institutions overseas, and particularly the Canadian League of Education, which has been set up in London, Hamilton, Kingston, and other cities, the sailor who returns home with a dictionary definition, a navy release said.

The sailor who wanted to take a course in the care of horses has been recommended as easily as the sailor who requested a course in welding. And the educational policeman who wanted to study the criminal code of Canada and acquaint himself with fingerprinting test was handled just as easily as the sailor who wanted to brush up on machine work or typing.

The education planned for Canadian sailors overseas is strictly voluntary. From his base at a North British port, Lord Hamilton came in contact with a considerable number of Canadian sailors serving overseas.

More than 700 men listed for correspondence courses, and more than 100 men listed for practical student education, including mechanics, directed reading, and creative education (hobbies).

Over the 1000 mark, the correspondence courses or night classes can't accommodate the varied requests for educational study. Lord Hamilton withdrew the student's directed reading, whereby the interested party may secure books to study the desired subject.

The correspondence school includes courses from stimulating directed reading, writing and spelling, up to advanced university courses.

Canada is not alone in post-war reconstruction were of tremendous interest to the men," said Lord Hamilton. "The sailor who returns with extremely sociable, but they do insist on a job to pay their way along."

"What it actually looks down to," Lord Hamilton said, "is that the sailor who returns with a degree in engineering, he feels he cannot get along without some help from the government. Their tendency to be a little bit of direct subsidy is the answer. But they distrust direct subsidy."

They are also opposed to any immigration for a year or so after the war, before they establish themselves in their own lives. The men, before any influx of new blood into the country, they feel immigration would be a good move. On the whole there are no objections to British Empire.

ARCTIC BATTLE

Smash Effort of Nazis to Establish Bases in Greenland

Four United States coastguard cutters operating in the packed Arctic waters, smashed a "determined Nazi effort" to establish fortified bases in Greenland.

The navy reported this said one German armed trawler was sunk, another captured, a ship was found abandoned, 60 prisoners were taken and a radio station was captured and destroyed.

In addition a German bomber attack was beaten off in the series of actions which lasted from July to late October.

Three of the coast guard cutters were damaged by crashing ice-packs, the Newfoundland was to towed 2,000 miles for repairs.

The climax of the battle through the ice and along frozen shore came Oct. 16 when the cutters Eastwind and Southwind captured the German trawler Externatene and the crew of four officers and 30 men.

Alive after salvo of shells shelled across the icepacks broke the German craft was cornered in a pocket formed by ice floes and forced to surrender.

Many Inquiries Received For Canada's National Film Board

VANCOUVER—Motion pictures being produced by Canada's national film board are attracting worldwide attention. John Grierson, head of the board, said in a speech to the board of trade here.

Inquiries have been received from the governments of Great Britain, the United States, Belgium, France and the U.S.S.R., Mr. Grierson said.

"Education has not been concentrated on the academic but it has forgotten its relation to the actual needs of the country," he said. The board has approximately 170 travelling theatres on regular schedules playing in towns and villages in schools and factories, working in conjunction with chambers of commerce, trade unions and industrial management.

STICKING TOGETHER LONDON—The foreign ministers of Germany, Japan and France today welcomed "right-to-the-point" messages on the third anniversary of the tripartite military pact, the German radio reported.

ROCKET RAIDS

Allies To Concentrate On German Military Targets

LONDON—The Allies are determined to concentrate on bombing German military targets despite Nazi rocket and night raids on England, Foreign Secretary Eden said.

He made this clear after one month of the House of Commons debate on the Prime Minister Churchill's plan to launch the atomic war against Germany.

"The principle on which our targets in Germany are selected is that of destroying as quickly as possible Germany's power to wage war," said Mr. Eden.

TERM IS EXPIRING

OTTAWA—It will be a fine Christmas at Radio's hall this year. The governor-general and Princess Alice are planning to spend Christmas in Canada, probably in the town of St. John's, where they will be joined by the royal family.

regrettable that some of our men who served with distinction overseas did not receive a more cordial welcome when they returned. The success of this committee's efforts will largely depend on the co-operation of friends and relatives of those returning, and the support given to it by the public in general.

THE UNDERLYING STRUGGLE
For the moment the Western front has driven into the background news of that underlying struggle of ideas which has been going on since the beginning of the world in Greece and the other liberated countries of Europe. In the war of arms, the battle line is clearly defined one. But in this war of ideas there are no frontiers. The enemy is not only the German and the Jap. For this battle of right versus wrong, of a materialistic conception of living against a God-centred life, must be fought in the heart of men everywhere.

All round the world there are signs that this battle of ideas is coming to a climax. If we don't watch out, we may be caught just as unprepared for this war as we were for the war of arms in 1939. There is the same fervor of blindness and fanaticism now as there was then. We did everything in the thirties but to introduce the material and materialism that was needed. There is a new war, new systems, economic adjustments and so on, but these are all fundamentally materialistic weapons with which to steel the organs of materialistic life. The alone will never do it.

Many of us are easily fooled by these materialistic ideas and often unwittingly aid the enemy because we really don't know what we're shooting for. People whose ideas are guided by their own selfish interests and desire for comfort will quickly become the tools of forces out to create the world as they see it. Men, on the other hand, who put the interests of the country first, whose faith is God and who put these principles to work in home and business can quickly produce a working answer to the most complicated problem.

WHAT DO YOU WANT TO KNOW?

Lethbridge Experimental Station
Lethbridge, Alberta
These weekly letters have been going out from the Lethbridge Experimental Station for years and sometimes we wonder if they are doing us good. It is rather easy to be an office, put on a thinking cap, and write a weekly letter about some subject in agriculture. But how many of those letters are read, do they give answers to questions that our readers have, do they give information that is helpful to our farmer friends? These are the little questions that sometimes set the little devil of doubt going in our minds.

The movie stars have their fan mail and are guided by it. We sometimes think this is foolish, that it is something to satisfy their vanity, and to a certain extent it is but at the same time it does tell them what the public thinks and what they want. We don't want fan mail but we could do with a little indication of what information our readers desire. We feel that there is a little use continuing to write just for the sake of writing.

So how would it be if we let our readers tell us what they want to know at the time of the year, say, if you want of you, have some time for meditation. No doubt you have problems to be considered regarding your work in general, regarding the operations for the coming season, or possibly even for a longer period in the future. And these problems are of interest to an entirely safe class with this weekly letter. We don't know the answers to all questions, we are continually working to find new answers, and the best way for us to know what we should be doing is for you to throw the question at us. Then we can determine which are of greatest general interest and concentrate on finding the answers if we do not already have them. That's what we are here for, we can't know all the questions and problems unless you put them to us. So let's co-operate, and it may lead to mutual benefit.

Canada's Grain Increase
